

An aerial photograph of a resort nestled in a lush, green forest. The resort features several large, multi-story chalets with steep, grey-shingled roofs and extensive wooden balconies. The chalets are constructed with a combination of wood and stone. In the center of the resort is a large, rectangular swimming pool with a light blue interior, surrounded by a well-manicured green lawn and scattered white rocks. A winding path made of white stones leads from the pool towards the chalets. To the right, another chalet is visible, featuring a hot tub and lounge chairs on its deck. The entire scene is framed by dense evergreen trees, creating a serene and secluded atmosphere.

"We recently arranged for a winter corporate trip to Petit Amazonia for a week. From start to finish it was an absolute pleasure. The booking service is so easy, no matter what we threw at the pre arrival concierge (a lot I might add, given we split the week into two groups of 14) they didn't even blink! The chalets are very luxurious and facilities second to none. They literally have everything you need. Regardless, unless you have decent service the chalet can become a bit of a moot point. Not here - drivers are on hand whenever you need them. Service in the chalet, was brilliant, very friendly and no ask was too big. Finally, the food was delicious and chefs great. Without doubt we will be back again!"
